About Jordon

As a consultant operating within the Software Development space, I am passionate about expanding my knowledge on a daily basis and thrive off building new relationships. Constantly learning the needs of my IT professional contacts and giving it my all to fulfill them.

I n an everchanging market I strongly believe that lasting relationships are key and developing a strong understanding of both my clients and candidates situations is my number one priority. With a deep understanding of the Fullstack space, specifically React and Node I place Software engineers right up to Principal positions in a permanent and contract capacity.

Outside of work I still enjoy learning my market and educating myself on the upcoming trends in this cutting-edge space. I am a huge foodie and love wine so you'll more than likely catch me at a restaurant or winery on the weekend. Although you may find me exploring
